The Certified Auxiliary Services Professional agrees to abide by and be judged by the following NACAS Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct for Auxiliary/Ancillary Service professionals in order to remain eligible for the CASP certification.

The Certified Auxiliary Services Professional shall:

• Represent the institution and association with personal integrity and shall conduct the business of the institution in a professional manner.
• Personal and professional conduct shall be such that it enhances the integrity and prestige of the institution, the association, and the profession.
• Engage in no activities that may be interpreted as a conflict of interest nor accept gifts, favors or hospitality that imply an obligation of the institution or the association.
• The professional shall not benefit financially, either directly or indirectly, from any decisions made as an officer of the institution or association.
• Promote greater diversity, equity, inclusion and accountability while promoting personnel practices in which recognition, selection and promotion are based on skill, proficiency, educational experiences, measurable potential and productivity.
• Be an intentional and strategic leader, advancing the missions of the institution and association.
• Actively pursue professional development and career enhancement for themselves as well as supporting the advancement of their colleagues and subordinates.
• Foster and support the development of professional standards at the institution, and in all regional and national professional organizations in which they participate.
